COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGERS OFFICE

The weather during this week has posed severe problems for the town in keeping roads and streets clear. The highway crew has worked hard to minimize problems created by water running into and across roads. It is almost impossible to keep up with clearing the ice this water creates.

We are pleased to announce that Sam Timberlake and Avery Angevine have received certificates of eligibility as Certified Assessment Technicians. These certificates qualify them to perform the assessment function in any assessing jurisdiction of not more than 3,000 persons in the State of Maine.

The Budget Committee met on Tuesday, Feb. 3 and Wednesday, Feb. 4, to discuss the proposed 1976 municipal budget for the town. Maurice Roy was elected chairman and presided over discussions. The Committee finalized their recommendations for submission to the Selectmen on Wednesday night.

The Board of Selectmen will meet in regular session Monday night, Feb. 9, at 7 p. m. and in a special work session Tuesday afternoon to discuss the State Tree Growth Tax Law with representatives of the State bureau of taxation and P. H. Chadbourne Co.

Norman R. Ness, Jr.

FILING DEADLINE FOR LOCAL CANDIDATES IS NEXT MONDAY

Any local citizen who desires to appear on the March 1 ballot for elective office in Bethel this year must file their nomination petitions with the Town Clerk before 5 o'clock next Monday afternoon, Feb. 9.

One, three year term on the Bethel board of selectmen/assessors will be decided this year. Those known to be seeking the position are Arlene Lyon and the incumbent Samuel Timberlake.

There will be two positions on the S. A. D. 44 board of directors voted on March 1. Christen Angevine and Frances E. Gunther as well as those currently serving on the board, Michael J. O'Donnell and John K. Brown, will be seeking election.

SNOW, RAIN, COLD WEATHER THE FIRST OF THE WEEK

Snow during the day on Sunday, changed to rain toward evening, making for generally hazardous driving conditions.

As the rain continued into Monday, temperatures dropped to the 0° range and wind velocity increased.

This combination has left many roads in an extremely rough condition and it was reported Wednesday that a portion of the West Bethel Flat Road and the East Bethel road were impassable as a result of the snow, rain, wind, zero weather combination.

S. A. D. 44 BOARD SESSION POSTPONED — TO MEET MONDAY, FEB. 9

Last Monday evening's scheduled regular meeting of the S. A. D. 44 board of directors was postponed due to hazardous travel conditions caused by the snow, rain, wind, and low temperatures. The meeting will be held Monday evening, Feb. 9, at 7:30, in the Lecture Hall at Telstar Regional High School.

Next Monday's agenda will include matters scheduled for the postponed meeting, board discussion of the report of the committee to study Telstar discipline, etc.; as well as new matters requiring board action.

WINTER CARNIVAL IS COMING —WATCH FOR IT!

A second printing of the winter carnival brochure is being prepared. This will include time and place of each event and any other pertinent information. A handy item for your kitchen bulletin board or pocket during the winter Carnival week. Watch for it!

The Chamber of Commerce wishes to express sincere thanks to the members of the Bethel Snowtowers Club for their generous donation and it's excited to announce Snowtowers Parade scheduled for Saturday, March 6 at 3:00. This is open to everyone who has a snowmobile. Those who wish to participate should be on Vernon Street by 2:00.

There are several other added events which you will notice. Mount Abram is planning a giant slalom race open to everyone who enjoys competition. Come to participate!

Local population will support these courses. Registration for the Andover English will be on Feb. 9, 7:30-8:30 p. m. at the Elementary School, or interested students may contact Mrs. F. Kraft, the instructor, at 392-2541. For Phys. Ed.—contact Bob Hamor at the school.

It is possible that there may be several short general interest courses beginning in a week or two, so watch this paper for further advancements.

On the Job
With Emily

The second week of the Special Session found Rep. Saunders suffering from a case of the "Bethel Bug" picked up on the previous week end. She made it to work every day to pick up material and mail and to discover such previously unknown State House facilities as the First Aid Office complete with cold remedies. Emily's condition was similar to that of the Legislature during the week: the pace was slow. Only a half dozen emergency bills have been enacted; the remainder of the 200 submitted are in committee, with hearings barely started.

There was much discussion of the various school funding proposals, and a tremendous amount of material distributed itemizing the financial effects of each on the various towns and cities. Hearings were held at week's end, and debate should begin next week in the House. The "item veto" was another topic receiving much attention, with the Governor actively promoting the idea. Many other states have this procedure which allows the Governor to veto a single part of a bill without vetoing the entire measure. The legislature would still have the opportunity to override the veto. This issue is similar to the abolition of the Executive Council in that it is a reform measure which would normally receive support, but given the conflicts between Gov. Longley and the Legislature, it is the kind of extension of gubernatorial power which may run into trouble.

Neighboring Legislator Jim Wilson of Stow was one of three Democrats introducing a Legislative Budget Committee proposal last week. This would set up in Maine the kind of committee which Senator Muskie presently heads in Washington. The Committee would work with the Governor and Budget Office in recommending a ceiling on legislative spending and set priorities for state spending.

Emily delivered brochures for the Bethel Winter Carnival to the State Bicentennial Commission Office this week. They will be enclosed in mailings sent out to people writing for information. In addition all members of the House and Senate were provided with the pamphlets.

Emily expects to be in Bethel on Thursday, Feb. 5, to attend the evening caucus of the Bethel Democratic Town Committee.

Hathaway Reports
Sen. William D. Hathaway
Willton has an award winning sewage treatment plant under construction. The reason? Sun power.

Solar energy will be used to operate the new plant, thereby reducing the need for other fuels which could prove more costly in the long run and which are already in limited supply. The project represents another advance for the practical application of solar energy — even in a region where the residents have to think hard about what the sun looks like in the dead of winter.

Much has been said about the potential for solar energy, but the sophisticated technology for such things as solar cells is not cost effective yet. Until now, about the only federal money that has gone into solar energy research has been primarily for NASA development for use in space exploration. The funding, for example, has been nowhere near what the federal government has put into nuclear research since the late 1940s.

Since 1971, however, solar energy research funding has increased significantly, indicating the government's substantial commitment to develop this alternative to fossil fuel. Some of the money is being expended on continued research and development, but other funds will be spent on the commercialization of existing technology, such as the use of solar hot water heating.

In addition, the day is coming, perhaps sooner than some experts think, when the higher costs for fossil fuels and the limits of our oil, coal and gas resources are going to be challenged by solar energy's improved efficiency through technology and its virtually limitless supply.

One of the prime reasons for this anticipated change is the soon to be established federal Solar Energy Research Institute (SERI).

One of the biggest questions about SERI's establishment is "Where?" The institute would have the major responsibility, through private contract awards and other research projects, of finding ways of improving solar energy technology and making as many practical applications of it as possible. Its work, therefore, will have considerable importance in our national goal of energy independence. Its location, however, could have much significance not only in the overall development of solar research but in economic and industrial advantages to the region around SERI.

Naturally, many of the states in the south and southwestern portions of the United States where the sun beams brightly year-round claim that this makes them the perfect spot for solar energy research. There is a determined effort, however, to ensure full and serious consideration of the New England region. Among the points in New England's favor are its fine reputation and unmatched accomplishments in developing advanced technologies and putting them into production. There is also the possibility that New England's seasonal weather changes may be to its advantage, in that solar energy uses could be tested under the best and worst conditions. A third point is that New England, perhaps more than the other regions in the United States, is in greater need of finding alternatives to fossil fuels because of its heavy dependence of foreign supplies.

Very shortly, the Energy Research and Development Administration will publish its guidelines on how SERI is to operate. That is one of the last steps before a decision will be made on where SERI will be located. It is hoped that a final decision on the site for SERI will be made before the end of 1976. A solar energy task force is now working through the New England Council to ensure that full consideration is given to our region for this highly important project.

Read I Timothy 2:1-7
First of all, I urge that petitions, prayers, intercessions, and thanksgivings be offered for all men. (I Timothy 2:1, NEB)

Many of us do not know how to begin to pray or who or what to pray for. I find it helpful to look at my hands for what I can learn from them. The thumb is faraway from the other fingers. I can pray for those persons faraway from me or from the truth of God's word.

The index finger reminds me of people who are pointers — teachers, leaders — showing us the way to heaven or leading us. They need my prayers. The long middle finger represents those who are in authority. Heads of government and others in prominent positions need my prayers.

Then looking at the third finger, I think of the weaker persons — those who are ill or weak spiritually need my prayers. The little finger represents the young or those who are kept down or consider themselves of little importance.

Such a method helps me pray for a host of people. Let all of us who make up the body of Christ pray for each other that we may come to a full knowledge of Jesus Christ as Lord.

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we thank You for the gift of prayer. Help us each day to find strength and courage through prayer and to lift others up in prayer for daily blessings. Amen.

Thought For The Day
God planned for us to lift others to Him in prayer.

Gould vs. Massabesic

by Raymond C. Jackson

On Tuesday, Feb. 3, at 8:05 p.m., the Gould representatives, Doug Moller, Joan Sommers, and Kirk Curtis competed against Massabesic High School in the "High School Quiz" program in Poland Springs, Maine, at the WMTW studios.

The studio for the "High School Quiz" program is in a small room, the size of an average living room; it has a high ceiling with overhead spotlights, and a crew of two cameramen. The moderator sat behind a podium between the two opposing teams and a woman wearing head phones with a mouthpiece sat in a booth in front of us; a closed circuit television was playing to her right.

The program got off to a slow start. Neither of the schools could answer the first few questions. Massabesic High School took command of the first round. Gould Academy began to show competitiveness in the second round. In all there were three rounds with Massabesic High School commanding the better half of them all.

The game ended with Gould losing by 85 points. The program will be broadcast on Feb. 27 at 6:30 p.m. on Channel Eight.

THE TRAPDOOR

Due to lack of school, this column was written in relative haste, but at least it did get printed. Since we are not at school to get any information from there, we are going to explain one of the unique and confusing facets we have at Telstar, the floating block.

"Floating block hits fourth today."

To us kids at school, now at least, this a statement heard every day, and is sensible. To those of you who don't know what floating block is (and if you do, you might find this column rather dull), it makes as little sense to you as it did to us when we first went to Telstar. It just brings up more questions, "What's floating block?" "How does it 'hit' fourth?" "Fourth what?"

To start with the easiest question, the "fourth what" is fourth period. The normal day at Telstar has seven periods, which in turn have 45 minutes in them. We are given a separate, three minute passing time to go from one class to another. There are no bells or anything to signify the end of class, so teachers have a minute or two of leeway.

The floating block is an extra period set in the day to give the teachers a chance to work with their students during the day. It is set up on an eight day cycle, which allows each of the seven periods to hit (replaced) by the floating block in a descending order. This cycle takes eight days to go through a complete rotation and is repeated throughout the school year. On the first day of the cycle there is no floating block and all of the classes meet as usual. On day two, the floating block replaces seventh (the last) period. Students still go to their last period classes and attendance is taken, but the students are allowed, if they have a good reason, to sign out. They can go to one of the many club meetings we have floating block, to the library, to find one of their teachers for help, or stay in the room to study or get help from that teacher. If the students have no reasons to go anywhere, they are supposed to stay in the classroom. When a teacher has some important material to cover, he can cancel floating block and class will be held as usual.

On the next day, day three in the cycle, floating block replaces the sixth period class, and the cycle continues through to day eight, when first (period) is hit by it. The next day is day one all over again, with no floating block.

When we miss school (and we seem to have missed quite a lot lately) the cycle continues as if we had gone to school during this time.

So much for today's lesson, class excused and see you again next week—Tom Wright and Victor Hathaway.

MONMOUTH EDGES TELSTAR 65-64 LAST FRIDAY

Host Monmouth Academy jolted Telstar's tourney hopes with a surprising 65-64 Mountain Valley Conference win over the Rebels last Friday night.

Telstar's record dips to 5-9 while the Mustangs picked up their second victory of the season.

Monmouth Academy was leading by four, 65-61, with 1½ minutes left when the Rebels got three straight. Telstar had a chance to win it with a last ditch shot, but it missed.

The Mustangs recovered from a seven-point first period to score 18 in the second for 25-24 halftime lead and 21 more in the third to increase their margin to four.

The Selectmen have received the Annual Town Reports from the printers and they are being delivered. The warrant for the annual Town meeting, which will take place at the Bear River

Grange Hall on March 1, at 7 p. m., contains 45 articles, most of them routine. Two articles, placed by request, are to see if the Town will vote to accept the Coombs Road, so called, as a town way, or to plow this road. Another article is to see if the Town will appropriate a sum of money for a Bicentennial Celebration. Total receipts during the year, including a Jan. 1, 1975 cash balance, were $110,707.36, with $79,407.48 paid out in Selectmen's warrants, leaving a year end cash balance of $31,299.88. Since the first of the year Selectmen have paid the State Aid note, amounting to $4,477.20, and invested $5,500, in a day in day out savings account. This will draw interest until needed to pay bills.

From a total tax commitment of $51,900.34, $48,115.40 was collected, plus abatements of $11.65 and discount of $420.53, leaving $2,261.76 uncollected Dec. 31. Of this amount, $1,943.58 was non-resident and $318.18 resident.

Unexpended balances in all accounts totaled $31,591.88. A total of $311.51 in overdrafts was transferred to unappropriated surplus. The revised Selectmen's budget, for accounts other than schools, totaled $17,380.94, compared to $17,535.84 for 1975. In addition the Selectmen are recommending appropriating four units ($2,132).

Mrs. Celista Morgan, Corres.

As I write this January draws to a close but also as I tear off the month of the calendar I have no illusions about February. It brings big storms and winds to play with the snow, piercing cold to mix with this snow which is heaped by the fences, swirled in to ravines, and sandpapered into sharp lines as clear etched as with a sculptor's chisel. And February brings us Groundhog Day! Can it really be that time again?

Before those scowling days when the rain came charging down the valley on a million patting feet, I made a trip up Sanborn River.

I crossed the pond and went directly through the bushes and hit the river a short way up from the month.

Here it was as silent as the sunshine; some where the noise got lost. The winds had relapsed into a doze.

I looked at the bare trees far up against the sky and noticed nests both large and small.

Sunshine reflected into a cavern beneath a tree on the opposite bank.

All the countryside seemed simple, but beneath the calm there is movement; lifeless grasses breaking down and among the trees the spongy soil is readying to change to vital humus, uncounted billions of seeds lie in the tree buds, roots in the frozen humus are unharmed just biding their time.

A little farther on stood pines with flecks of light on the carpet beneath but mostly as soberly solemn as a church.

I stopped beneath an old tree leaning out over the water. It was then that I realized that I was not alone. I heard the crunch of snow shoes and turned to see a man and his son also traveling the Sanborn. They were looking for signs of beaver. The little fellow was as freckled as a swamp lily, bright eyed and alert.

"Is this a fox track, Dad?" he asked.

We talked for a few minutes then they moved on. I followed for a short way then turned back.

All around, the trees remained intently still. It was an echoing room, an occasional sound carrying far.

I continued by way of the pond's edge facing north. Beyond were the foothills, and beyond them, the mountains, brooding.

Following well up the pond, on this wide snow filled winter day, the sun brought out the jewels: sapphires, crystals and diamonds.

Passing near a bent birch as I cut through the woods toward home I saw all lined up in a row six little sculptured figures. Were they taking a lesson from "teacher" who sat just across from them on a stump? They looked so real. I had to observe them more closely. I was for a moment caught within their fragile spell.

Then back down the pond I went across the rumpled sheet of shimmering white; home where bird feeders and romping squirrels waited to be filled while above silky gray beards of icicles sparkled in the sun.

On Friday, Doris Hayes and Rena Bacon went to Portland and spent the day with Verna Libby.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morris visited Bill and Ethel Ward in Bethel one day this week.

Duane Hayes, West Paris; Ardel Hayes, Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hayes and boys, Gray; were at the Hayes Homestead on Saturday.

Congratulations to Henry and Barbara Pelletier on the birth of a son on January 29. He has been named Mark Napoleon. Also congratulations to Mrs. Thomas Bragg Jr., on the birth of a son, the same day, January 29. Her son was named for his late Daddy and is Thomas Charles the third. Eva Curtis Felton is his grandmother. Although Lucy Bragg now lives with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bragg Sr. in Buckfield she was one of us in her "growing up" days. Both babies were born at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

On Sunday, Louanne and Joanne and Scot Hayes, West Paris, spent the day with their grandparents at the Hayes Homestead. Chester Hazelton, West Paris, was also a visitor.

Eva Felton, Kathy Curtis, Dorothy Curtis and I visited Lucy Bragg at Stephens Memorial Hospital on Friday.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my thanks to everyone who sent cards and flowers and visited me during my stay in the hospital. Everything was much appreciated.

This is a race for Boys and Girls, Class III and IV, and registrations will be accepted for this Eastern Sanctioned Race by Bob Harkins, Race Chairman at Sunday River. The giant slalom course for these juniors will be set on the Cascade Trail at Sunday River, starting just above the top of the lower Cascade Trail. The Sunday River Ski Club is sponsoring this race, and prizes will be awarded to the top finishers in both classes. The individual fastest times for boys and girls will be inscribed on separate trophies as permanent display at Sunday River. The fastest girls' time will be inscribed on the Meredith Langley Wyman silver bowl and the fastest boys' time will be inscribed on the trophy originally donated by the Oxford Paper Company in 1966.

This race was started by the Sunday River Ski Club in 1966 as the Sunday River Junior Giant Slalom, and the Trophy was donated by the Oxford Paper Co., with individual bowls and medals provided by the Ski Club. In 1967, the family of Meredith Langley Wyman, a former Gould Academy student and sister herself at Sunday River, donated a Silver Bowl in memory of their daughter, to be inscribed with the fastest girl's time for this race. The race was subsequently renamed the Meredith Langley Wyman Race, and the Langley family has maintained an active interest in the Ski Club and this race over the years.

It is expected that a family member will be on hand Sunday for the presentation of the trophy.

OXFORD COUNTY REPUBLICAN WOMEN'S CLUB AWARDED STATE TROPHY

Hannibal Hamlin Republican Women's Club of Oxford County was presented the Travelling Membership Trophy at the State Federation of Republican Women's Club meeting held at the Happy Jack Restaurant, Lewiston, last Wednesday. This trophy was presented by the Rockland Women's Republican Club in 1973 in honor of Mrs. Yvonne Peter, State President for that year, and is awarded each year to a club who gains in membership. The Hannibal Hamlin Club gained a 323 percentage membership for the year 1975. Mrs. Chester C. Bean, president of the local club thanked all state members for the award and stated it was the work of each member of 1974 to gain so many members that netted their results; and though many members do not attend meetings regularly, they do want to be a member.

The club recessed for January and February but will resume meetings on March 11 when Mrs. Jacob Immonen will host the club and the new officers will be installed. Mrs. Chester Bean, president; Mrs. James McKinney, secretary; Mrs. Donald McAllister, treasurer; and Miss Edwina Guyer, first vice president. Congressman Cohen's Lewiston office manager, Judy Gleason will present the program at this meeting. Also the 1976 membership drive will start at this time.

WE DID IT ... AND YOU HELPED!

A total of 9,000 Campbell Soup Labels were collected for the Labels for Education Program at the Ethel Bisbee School in Bethel. On Jan. 24, 1976 we sent 3,525 labels for the following items: one set of Beginner Books Filmstrips by Dr. Suess, two footballs, one set of Golden Books Bicentennial Library and one Bell & Howell head phone.

The items should arrive in 12 weeks so that the children at the Ethel Bisbee School can start using them. The children worked very hard collecting the labels.

Many thanks to the many people who sent labels by mail and a special thanks to Irene Millett of Waterford for her donation of 710 labels and all the friends of education who left labels in the collection boxes.

Our appreciation goes to the Bethel IGA, L&F Country Store, Cherie's Beauty Salon, Casco Bank and Crescent Park School for allowing us to put collection boxes in these places.

I have 425 labels set aside for next year's campaign. We would appreciate your saving the labels throughout the year for this purpose. Mrs. Frances Saunders suggests that you tape a plastic bag inside a closet door and just drop the labels in as you use the soup. I will take labels anytime. There is a collection box year round at the Ethel Bisbee School or send them to me.

This is the third year that we have reached our goal. We now have acquired $155.25 worth of equipment for the children of the Ethel Bisbee School.

Again, our gratitude to all—parents, friends and especially the children—for donations large and small. They all helped!
